

Chapter 6: More Demon Hunters

The next morning, Christopher wakes up to get his day going. Before that, he receives a text message from the Meguras about the game meet, saying:

Meet us at the park at 10 AM. Koya will join us shortly.

Christopher: Wow, that was unexpected.

Then, Lisa wakes up.

Lisa: (yawns.) You're up early; what are you doing?

Christopher: I have to get ready for my game meet, today.

Lisa: What game are you introducing to them?

Christopher: Tekken 7; we need a break from 2D fighters. It feels like I'm doing the right thing in doing this.

Lisa: I'm not so sure you've made the right decision in getting that game.

Christopher: What are you talking about, Lisa? Of course I made the right decision to get this game; I have been playing and practicing Tekken 7 the moment I bought it.

Lisa: Sure, you have.

Christopher: Anyway, it doesn't matter. So, you want to come with me?

Lisa: No; to be honest, I really like Street Fighter 3 more than Tekken.

Christopher: Are you serious?

Lisa: Yes.

Christopher: Alright, I'll take your word for it then.

Hours passed since Christopher got himself ready for the game meet. It was approaching 10 AM.

Christopher: Ok, Lisa. I'm off now; tell Maxelle and Iris I'll return soon.

Lisa: I'll do that. Be careful out there, Christopher.

Christopher drove to the park to see the Megura twins. When he arrived there, he sees that Koya wasn't there.

Christopher: Sorry I'm late. Where's Koya?

Sally: She'll be with us shortly.

Christopher: (sees that the Meguras were looking at him seriously.) What's wrong?

Keiko: You're hiding something from us, Chris.

Christopher: Well, if it's about the game I'm introducing to you, don't be.

Sally: We're not interested in that; we're interested in your Raiken powers.

Christopher: How did you two know that I'm a Raiken? Did Koya tell you?

Sally: It doesn't matter who told us; what really matters whether or not those powers of yours is good as advertised. Ready, Keiko? Let's introduce to him our units.

Keiko: Couldn't agree with you more, sister.

The Meguras summoned their puppets. One was gold and the other was silver; they became one with their units – like mechas. Christopher was amazed and shocked that happened.

Christopher: I didn't know you ladies were into mechas. Don't you think that this is an unfair advantage?!

Sally: Unfair for you. We're only interested in how powerful you are, Raiken.

Keiko: It's our strengths versus yours; what could be unfair about that?

Christopher: Well, you do have a point, but still - - -

Christopher runs away from the Meguras. Meanwhile at the apartment strip, Lisa was concerned about Christopher and his safety. Then, Iris appeared to see if she was fine.

Iris: What's wrong, Lisa?

Lisa: I'm concerned about my master; I sure hope he's okay.

Iris: You worry too much; I'm sure Christopher has been training really hard to control his Raiken powers. He can be stronger than his big brother; all you have to do is believe in your master, Lisa. Then, everything else will take care of itself.

Lisa: Thanks, Iris.

Then someone was knocking on the door. Lisa sees that it was Koya Hamatsu on the Ring monitor. She lets her in.

Lisa: Koya, what are you doing here?

Koya: Where's the Meguras?

Lisa: They met with Christopher at the park about the game meeting.

Koya: Without my permission?!

Iris: What is there something wrong?

Koya: No. I'll handle this myself.

Lisa wanted to go along with Koya but Iris stopped her.

Iris: Let her go, Lisa. I'm sure she got this situation under control with the Meguras. I'm feeling immense strength from her.

Lisa:

Meanwhile at the park, Christopher was fighting against the Meguras in their armored suits. He was struggling to penetrate through their armor with his Raiken powers. He had to run away again but he tripped on his shoelaces and fell into a wormhole in the shadows. (Shadow Hiding) The Meguras were searching for him.

Keiko: He has to be around here; where did he go?

Sally: I'm having a difficult time tracking him, Keiko.

Meanwhile in the wormhole, Christopher was trying to figure out a way to breakthrough the Meguras' armor.

Christopher: I guess I'll wait here until reinforcements arrive. (sees that he was below the Meguras.) Nice angle. (he finds out the hollow points within their armor.) No wonder why my Raiken powers weren't having any effect on them. It seems like I'm going to strike them in the median area of the breastplate.

Then, Sally found Christopher.

Sally: He's below us!

Sally tries to attack Christopher while he was underground but he came out of the shadows and struck her in the middle of her breastplate; causing her armor to be removed. But before Keiko could attack Christopher, Koya appears to defend him – catching Keiko's armored punch with her bare hands.

Keiko: Koya?! What are you doing here?!

Koya: So, that's what you two are doing here?

Sally: It's not what it looks like; this was all Keiko's idea.

Keiko: Don't be so modest; you were in on this, too.

Christopher: You mean to tell me that you ladies are demon hunters?

Koya: Yes, we are demon hunters; try not to hold this against us.

Christopher: Well, looks like I'm going to have to cancel the game meet, again.

Sally: You don't have to; we can have it at our house.

Christopher: Are you sure, you want to do this?

Keiko: Yes.

Christopher drives to the Meguras household. He introduced them to a somewhat new 3D fighter; it was Tekken 7. He challenged Koya to a first-to-ten; she beat Christopher's Hwoarang with Asuka – 10 to 6. He was pleased that his game meet turned out well. He returns to his apartment tired beyond belief.

Lisa: Christopher! You're home!

Christopher: I told you I'll be home.

Maxelle: So, what happened while you were out?

Christopher: I ran into three demon hunters this afternoon. I didn't know Japan had demon hunters.

Iris: Why are you so surprised, Chris? There's demon hunters throughout the world.

Christopher: It leaves me wondering how many demon hunters were got here and in Japan?

Maxelle: Try not to worry about it too much, Chris. Just be grateful you've survived the day.